Please settle the Microsoft suit under the terms agreed to by various attorneys general and Microsoft.

Microsoft's "monopoly" has enabled millions of CONSUMERS to exchange files, share data, etc. Plus, anyone who wants to can always buy a Mac and not use Microsoft products. Or they can use their existing PC but use Linux (free) and not even install Microsoft Windows or any other Microsoft product.

I believe the suit was not in the consumers' interest at all. Big companies (not as big as Microsoft) wanted this suit. They couldn't win in the marketplace, but they devised a way to win in court.

I do not now nor have I ever worked for Microsoft or any software or computer company nor have I ever owned Microsoft stock. I simply use a computer several hours each day running my own small business.
